

R. S. SHAH

Started his career as lecturer in mathematics and astronomy in Fergusson College Pune. Joined L.I.C. of India as Asst. Administrative Officer. During 34 years service, occupied various positions as line manager and staff manager and had experience in different disciplines of life insurance such as Actuarial, Marketing, Data-processing, Finance and Accounts, Audit and Inspection, Customer Service, Training etc. Last 4 years of his service he was at National Insurance Academy, Pune as Faculty. He retired from L.I.C. of India in the cadre of Executive Director.

After his retirement he was associated with College of Insurance and Financial Planning, Hyderabad, undertaking training of Agents, Development Officers and Branch Managers of L.I.C. of India. He had been to Sri Lanka, Oman and Tanzania on Training assignments. He has co-authored the books “Vectors and Dynamics” (for graduation), “Quantitative Techniques in Insurance”, “Insurance in India” and “Applications of Life Insurance”(a text-book for Associateship exam of Insurance Institute of India). Currently he is Managing Partner of Insurance Consultancy and Training Group, a partnership firm involved in academic activities in Insurance.